A Sound of Thunder By Ray Bradbury

A time traveler accidentally steps on a butterfly in the past, and alters the course of history.

"It can't be killed."

Paradox: Eckels thinks by going back in time he can see himself; however, it's not possible because time doesn't allow you to meet yourself.

Imagery:
"It towered 30 ft. above half of the trees, a great evil God, folding its delicate watchmaker's claws close to its oily reptilian chest."

Irony:
Eckels is afraid to kill the T-Rex even though he is a master hunter.

THEME:
Humanity is directly connected to the environment and even small actions can have an impact on the world. They change the results of the election.
